”You don’t have to raise your hand very high before someone is ready to help, and when we had to send an application to a foundation for the first time, we were also allowed to borrow another startup’s application so we could see how they did. Now the other startups come and borrow from us.”

Ditte Højland, Textile Change, about the entrepreneurial network in The Kitchen

”They say there are three levels in The Kitchen. You can be a student and an entrepreneur on the side. You can be an entrepreneur and a student on the side. And you can just be an entrepreneur.”
