Distribution of reductions in relation to degree programme groups

To illustrate how we in the faculty management team have strived to maintain a broad range of degree programmes by ensuring a sufficient volume within the respective degree programme groups, the result of the proposed degree programme resizing is summarised in the table below. It shows the size of the reduction and the total maximum admission figures for each of the degree programme groups.

Provided that no further degree programme resizing initiatives are imposed during the implementation period, the idea is that the figures in the far-left column indicate the framework for the respective degree programme groups within which the new degree programmes are to be established.

Group	Admissions 2023	Reduction 2023-2025	New cap on admissions 2025
Didactics and pedagogy	159	-15	144
